times to the knee, often so severe as to prevent my having any power over my leg. It was as if it was paralyzed and I was unable to walk or stand or even turn in bed. I was often suddenly attacked with pain, so severe as to RENDER LIPE A BURDEN, followed by wasting and general ill-health. "I was told by my friend, Mr. Edward Blank, the grocer, of 2501 Suilivan avenue, who had been cured of a similar trouble, that I should go to Dr. McCoy and he would cure me. At this time I was unable to even move in bed, and so I sent my wife to the Doctor and she told him how I was, and she brought me medicine, and as soon as I began to take it my pain began to leave me.

I was around again. In a month I was entirely well, and I would not have that pain again for $100. It seems strange how the medicine went to the very spot, when everything I had tried and all the medicine I had taken before did me no good."

BISHOP'S SPEECH.

The First Argument Made in the Maxwell Trial.

Full Text of the Judge's Instruc tions to the Jury.

Maxwell's Demeanor in Court—The Great Trial Nearing Its Close;

there was more material for dramatic and oratorical effect on the part of the prosecution an in the trial of Maxwell.

The mystery at first surrounding the discovery of the crime, the horrible details of the the rotting carcass which led to the detection and arrest of the slayer and his victim and the actions and character of the prisoner by his own admissions furnish material for splendid, effects.

Taking the theory of the defense alone, the contrasts between the real actions and thoughts of the prisoner and his professions and claims offer a brilliant field for the orator. The alleged accident, as opposed to the failure to act as any honest man would under the circumstances; the alleged horror and the actual coolness; the alleged grief and the actual unfeeling cruelty; the alleged sorrow and love with the actual robbery and lust; the alleged tenor, with the actual flippancy and jesting demeanor. All oratorical. He did not become realistic and he neglected impressiveness and overlooked his climaxes to a large extent. The facts themselves are so elequent that elequence is almost dumb beside them.

For the defense there appears to be little to the control of the control of inpleasant apparently, except in so far as he only concern now and this concern is shown in

PROCEEDINGS IN COURT.

Opening Speech-The Law.

The Court in the Maxwell-Prelier case this

The Court in the Maxwell-Prelier case this morning was slow to get to work. Mr. Fontleroy wrote out several points which he desired Judge Van Wagoner to incorporate in his instructions, and spent some time in conversation with him showing authority for the instructions he desired. The defense wanted all the instructions possible for a verdict iess than murder in the first degree.

It was fully 11 o'clock when Deputy Sheriff Hodnet rapped for order and Judge Van Wagoner arose from his seat with the instructions in his hands. The crowd in the second that the defendant, fied from the State of Missouri and tred to avoid arrest and trail for said offense, they may believe and find from the vidence that the defendant, after the counting his guilt or innocence. The court instructs the jury that although the year of prisoner. The jury arose from his seat with the instructions standing.

Maxwell-whortantion with a Post-Distance in the series of the second on his left hand seemed prepared for heart what the Court had to say, but his mind was evidently not entirely fixed on the instructions, but the next minute his eyes would been to favor his case he became attentive and his left hand seemed prepared for a few minutes on the jury, then he would search the face of the Judge and appear to be intensely attentive to the reading of the instructions good character of the defendant, the from the State of Missouri and the previous good character of the defendant in previous good character of the defendant, after the matter stated in these question of the bounded all get in the instructions that the defendant field from the State of Missouri and they have and find from the evidence that the defendant field from the State of Missouri and they have and find from the state of the souri attentive to a souri after the countries of the defendant field from the State of Missouri and they have and find from the vidence in the first determining his guilt or innocence of this charge, then his case of the jury and then are defended in the s that and that only which is produced by what the law recognizes as just cause of provocation or a lawful provocation, and the Court instructs the jury that in this case there is no evidence tending to show the existence of any such passion, or of a lawful provocation.

By the term "premeditatedly" is meant thought of beforehand for any length of time, however short.

The term "malice" as used in this indictment does not mean in the legal sense mere spite, ill will or distike, as it is ordinarily understood, but it means that condition of mind which prompts one person to take the life of another person without just cause or justification, and signifies the state of disposition which shows a hear's regardless of social duly and fatally benton mischief.

And malice aforethough means that the act was done with malice and premeditation.

By "robbery" is meant the telonious stealing, taking and carrying away of the personal property of another from his person or in his presence against his will by violence or pusting him in fear.

The Court instructs the jury that if they believe and find from the evidence, that at the City of St. Louis and State of Missouri, and within three years prior to the finding of the indictment the defendant undertook to treat or operate upon the said Charles Arthur Freller for a disease and did administer to the said Charles Arthur Preller for a disease and did administer to the said Charles Arthur Preller and there did Charles Arthur Preller in the fourth deares and assess his punishment in the Fententiary for the term of two years, or by imprisonment in the City Jali for hot less than $500, or by both a fine not less than $500, or by both a fine not less than $500, or by both a fine not less than $500, or by both a fine not less than $500, or by both a fine not less than $500, or by both a fine not less than $500, or by both a fine not less than $500, or by both a fine not less than $100 and imprisonment in the City Jali not less than $100 and imprisonment in the City Jali not less than $

ant. The Court further instructs the jury that the intent with which an act is done may be proved by direct and positive evidence, or it may be interred from all of the facts and circumstances surrounding and attending the act, and must be determined by the jury from the evidence given in this cause.

The jury are instructed that they may from circumstantial evidence alone find the defendant guilty, when the facts established are inconsistent with any other theory than that of his guilt, but in order to find the defendant guilty, when the facts established are inconsistent with any other theory than that of his guilt, but in order to find the defendant guilty upon circumstantial evidence alone, the facts proven must be wholly inconsistent with the evidence of the accused and incapacile, of explanation upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt.

The Court instructs the jury that if they believe and find from the evidence that the defendant made any statement or statements in relation to the crime charged by this indictment after said crime is alleged to have been committed, the jury must consider such statement or statement or statements altogether, the defendant is entitled to the benefit of what he said for himself if true, and the State is entitled to the benefit of what he said for himself in any statement or statements proved by the State. What the defendant said against himself, what he said for himself, the jury are not bound to believe because said against himself. What he said for himself that is shown to be trace or false by the evidence in this cause. It is for the jury to consider, under all the circumstances, how much of the whole statement or statements of the defendant proved by the State, the jury from the evidence in this cause deem worthy of belief. The opinions of the experis who have testified in this cause are testimony which the jury should consider and examine in connection with all the other testimony in this cause, subject to the same rules of credits or dishelief as th of which the defendant is accused. No matter how clear the guilt of the accused. No matter how clear the guilt of the accused. If he in his defense makes any kind of claim the Court must instruct on it. If the killing was done by negligence you must convict of mansiaughter in the fourth degree, or by accident you must acquit, or if he murdered Mr. Prelier deliberately you must convict.

Mr. Fauntieroy told you that he wanted to prove the character of the defense, but he withdrew when the State showed its willingness to enter this field. What does character amount to? How many men who stand high in the estimation of communities fall and become criminals. What do the demantions amount to? The defendant can starch the world and select any persons he may choose but the state must bring the witness to the witness stand 40 face the defendant. Whom has he chosen to swear to his character? His associates, his fellows in his studies or his pursuits? No, but old men who saw only the outside and better character of the man. What do these men say? They say they cannot swear to his character after 1894. He says he studies medicine and took degrees and yet none of these men knew anything about these studies.

Sappose his character is proven up to this time. Evaluate he leaving England and deather.

yet none of these men knew anything about these studies.

Suppose his character is proven up to this time. Explain his character is proven up to this time. Explain his leaving England suddenly under an assumed name. Explain his character afterwards, his lies and his forgeries.

Mr. Fauntieroy interrupted to object to such language as not in evidence. The Court said he did think it proper to give an opinion or the evidence, and to maintain the counsel.

Mr. Bishop waved the diploma and circulars and said that was evidence enough. He said the witness convicted himself of lying, forward deception.

Now we count to the murder. 'said he, 'at the Southern Hotel-the body of a man horribly and cruelly murdered. The finding of his body in the hotel-branded and mutilated and rosting in a trunk. By means of the police—no wonder they lare damned by the defense—we discovered that the man who did the deed was speeding westward. He never thought of the cable, which enabled an officer to await him when he arrived at his destination.

Her son is on trial for his life among strangers and with men who are seeking his life, with men on the side of the prosecution who determined at first that he was a murderer. "Poor Arthur Prelies—I may be ridiculed by the prosecution—for saying this, but I say it—his purit has gone to its maker. One chair is vacant in the home circle. You cannot recall him, but you can decide whether an mother's heart broken and a father's gray head bowed by grief and shame.

You have to decide this question. I do not want to turn you from the line of your duty. We, the counsel for the defence, have the interests of state as much at heart and as much at state as the counsel for the otherside. We want you to do your duty, but you must consider the responsibility."

Mr. Fauntieroy took up the instructions and read the last instruction with regard to what the attorneys would do and how the jury must accept the speeches. He said that some lawyers consuited the jury by bytuding opinions on the jury of the evidence. He should only see that the case is properly conducted, that improper evidence is excluded and proper evidence is introduced.
He can guide the jury by his experience in the law. He said that he would not make a speech, but would only review the evidence and "I would not have you!" he said, "if you beimputed to his client, and said that he would unite with the prosecution in denouncing it as a cruel, cold and cowardly murder, and expect no assistance from them in getting justice.

CITY HALL NEWS.

Water Statistics-Three Bad Cases-of Public Improvements. In his report for the month of May, made t the Mayor to-day, the Assessor and Collector of water rates reports that during that of water rates reports that during that month 6,865 houses were examined; 6,417 found to be in good order; 423 leaks discovered, 55 wastes found, 24 leaks reported by police, 55 by the tenants and 18 by telephone; 485 houses shut off from water; 446 hydrants repaired; 528 notices served and 525 sprinklers reported. The average depth of water in the reservoir was 20 6.10 feet.

The Board of Public Improvements, at its meeting this morning, adopted an ordinance authorizing the construction of cross-walks in various parts of the city, the cost of which is estimated at $1,700. This sum to be appropriated out of the fund for street unprovements. The model of a stop-valve submitted by George J. Fritz as a sample of a lot bid upon by that manufacturer was rejected as unsatisfactory. The valve was ruled as not in accordance with the specifications outlined in the advertisement calling for the bids opened May 18.

THE HOME-RULE SPLIT.

DIVISION ON THE MEASURE PLEDGED FOR THURSDAY'S SESSION.

Debate To-Night-A Steamer in Danger-The Fishery Squabble-Foreign News.

LONDON, June 1. The Standard says it would perhaps be irrational to assume that Mr. Gladstone's resources are exhausted, but the chances are infinitesimal that he has any fresh overtures to make or that he will subject himself to fresh humiliation in an effort to purchase a semblance of harmony. It is cred-itable that the dissidents chose the least welcome alternative-dissolution. The Conserv tives wanted a division on the home rule bill to-night, but the Government declined to accede to their wishes. The Government was reluctant at first to give a pledge for a division on Thursday, but finally yielded.

The Ministers now in London held a meeting after the Chamberlain meeting and decided to mediate dissolution. Twelve Hartingtonite tended the Chamberlain meeting. Mr. Sexton and Sir William Vernon Harcourt follow Mr. Chamberlain in to-night's debate. It is rumored that Mr. Bright, in his letter to Mr. Chamberlain expressed the hope that a via media might yet be found to avert a dissolution while the Liberals are divided.

The Dominion.

NOT SIGNIFICANT. LONDON, June 1 .- The presence of the British man-of war Bellerophon, at Halifax, at the present juncture, is explained at the Admiralty office to be neither significant nor important She is there now in the regular course of or ders issued long ago. Among the other ves sels belonging to the British Navy, which wil soon reach Halifax under regular orders, are Dido, Garnet, Emerald and Lity. The Mallard has been ordered to St. Johns, N. F. All the above, except the Emerald, have been for some time attached to the British West Indian and North American squadron.

THE PACIFIC'S LATEST ACQUISITION. MONTREAL, June 1 .- It is rumored that the Stanstead, Shefford & Chambly and the Water loo & Magog railways. The Canadian Pacifi people are unwilling to speak on the deal, but friends of the syndicate accept it as an accomplished fact. These roads, together with the Pope line to Lake Megantic, and the balance to be built (the charter for which has already been obtained) will decrease the distance to Halifax by rail 250 miles.

THE SIBERIAN'S DANGER.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 1.—The steamer Portia arrived to-day from St. Johns, N. F., en route for New York with the news that the steamer Siberian had not reached that port up to the time she left, and nothing had been seen of her en route. The Portia was four days on the passage and encountered an extremely thick fog all the way until within eighty miles of her on route. The Portia was four days on the passage and encountered an extremely thick fog all the way until within eighty miles of Halifax. She also reported that the coast of New Foundland was surrounded with innumerable fields of ice and bergs of all sizes, thus adding to the manifest danger of the voyage. This report, added to a telegram from St. Johns, announcing the non-arrival of the Siberian, causes the people of Halifax to experience the most lively fears for the safety of their friends on board. Sixty-seven passengers went on board the steamer at this port, many of whom intended to go to St. Johns only. Forty were in the steerage, seven intermediate and the twenty remaining in the cabin.

A BATTERY.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 1.—The militia department has issued orders for the withdrawal of the detachment of B Battery, which has been stationed in the Northwest since the rebellion. The men have been in camp at Quappele for several months past. They number sixty-four all told. They will rejoin the battery at Quebec. It is expected that the contingent of A Battery, located at Moose Jaw, will receive their recall immediately.

EXPORT DUTY ON LOGS.

Jaw, will receive their recall immediately.

EXPORT DUIT ON LOGS.

A deputation waited upon the Minister of Customs to-day and asked that the export duty on logs be made the same as the United States import duty, namely, $3 per 1,000 feet, board measurement, instead of $3 as proposed. They believe that the United States might imagine they had something to complain about if the duty on the Canadian side was larger than on theirs. The minister promised to consider the matter.

In order to accommodate all who may desire to make a social or business trip at very low rates the Ohio & Mississippi Railway will from June 8, to June 18, inclusive, sell gound trip tickets from St. Louis to Cincinnati, Dayton and Pittsburg, O., and to Clinton Valley about one fare for the round trip, good for reurn until July 15. The O. & M. Railway is the only line running solid trains from St. Louis to Cincinnati. No change of cars for any class of passengers. Smoking Cars, Baggage Cars, regular Passenger Cars and Palace Drawingroom Coaches all run through without change. Through coaches to Dayton, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D. C. DIXEY IN LONDON. The Actor Warmly Received, but the Play Utterly Bad.

tal Cablegram to the Post-Dispe LONDON, June 1.—Dixey's first night drew a prilliant audience to the Gaiety, London's 'home of burlesque," last evening. The neater was crowded, and the stalls and be contained the best known first nighters of the netropolis. In the boxes were Lord Londescontained the best known first nighters of the metropolis. In the boxes were Lord Londes-borough, Baron Bothschild, Mr. Levi Lawson, the proprietor of the Daily Telegraph; Mr. W. S. Gilbert, Mr. Bancroft, Oscar Wilde, Mr. and Mrs. Bronson Howard and Mrs. Anson Pond. There was. fortunately, a large American representation among the audience. The reception given to Dixey personally was exceedingly warm, but there was an element present, largely gathered in the pit and gallery which was levidently hostile to the play and the player. The first act passed off without incident of any note, but did not make any impression except that Dixey himself was greatly admired for his easy manner, graceful dancing and general lightness and neatness. The second act opened amid a beer garden scene of midgled applanes and hisses, and grew worse as the scenes progressed. Contrary to expectation, the imitation given to Henry Irving and the song "It's English, You Know," made the hits of the evening and secured for Dixey a genuine ovation. The barber shop access proved unintelligible to the audience, and was hissed and hooted as, and the curtain fell on the last act amid a mingled storm of cheers and hisses. The feeling among the critics and at the clubs is that Dixey is an artist but shat the play is uttorly bad. Among the ladies of Mr. Dixey's company Miss Somery Miss Grubb were the most successful.

W. L. Simpson of Charleston, Mo., was on 'Change to-day. He says harvesting of wheat commenced to-day in Southeast Missouri. A good yield is expected, and the crop will begin to be marketed by June 15.

Deliveries of wheat on June contracts were large to-day, amounting to near 20,000 bushels. Francis started out over half of this, and Langenberg was the next largest in his deliveries. Most of this wheat stopped with Grier and S. W. Cobb & Co. These two also got most of the corn that was delivered, of which about 75,000 bushels was sent out.

Tom Woods says that he didn't lose the money in his oats deal that people think he did, as he had two bushels sold in Chicago where he had one bought here. He claims to have made 5 cents a bushel there where he lost 3 cents here, and that last week he settled out $20,000 bushels in this market on the quiet in which he nad good profits.

President Perry of the Board of Flour Inspectors, reports the stock of flour in St. Louis and East St. Louis, including mills and private warehouses, at 53,630 barrels, against 60,200 barrels a month ago. At this time a year ago the stock was fully 250,000 barrels, some concerns carrying stocks equal to the total now in hand.

Jim Newell, Tom Couch, Frank J. Brown and Frank Norvell, who went down to Black Biver Friday for a week's fishing, arrived home Sunday, having actually been driven away by the mosquitos that infest that region. Norvell swears they were as large as humming birds, and Brown claims they could bite through a leather boot, all of which is corroborated by Newell and Couch. They brought nothing back but some empty glassware.

JUDGE HAWKINS APPOINTED ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Lancaster Case-Solicitor McCue's In-structions to District-Attorney Biles — Clardy and Cockrell—The New Judicial Circuit - The Oleomargarine Bill - Congressional Proceedings-News from the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 1 .- The Presiden sent the following nominations to-day: David L. Hawkins of MisSouri, to be Assistant-Secretary of the Interior, vice George A. Jenks, resigned.

John B. Riley of Plattsburgh, N. Y., to be Indian School Superintendent, vice John H. Oberly, appointed a civil service commissioner.

Joseph E. Johnston of Virginia, to be Com-missioner in and for the District of Alaska, vice Chester Zeeber, resigned.

Bandall and the Civil Service.

Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCE.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Mr. Randall's attempt to cripple the civil service law by tacking to the legislative appropriation bill, a proviso that the money for the civil proviso that the money for the civil service commission shall not be available until the rules have been so changed as to permit the head of a department to select his appointes from the whole list of eligibles, is likely to cause trouble. It is maintained that Mr. Randail's provision is clearly in violation of the rules of the House. But Mr. Springer, who will probably be in the chair when the appropriation bill comes up for discussion in Committee of the Whole, is counted on to make a favorable ruling to Randail. The House, however, is likely to be called on to decide the point of order for itself, and it remains to be seen whether or not a majority of members can be found to follow Mr. Randail's leadership in his mad endeavor to override the rules of the body for which he has for so many years been an honored member, and over which he presided as Speaker. There are a number of conservative Democrate in the House who view with alarm the action of Mr. Randail. Many believe that it will result in a fight on the civil service law, though there are many Democrats who are howling for an opportunity to wash the machine. Bennett of North Carolina is said to have a speech prepared against civil service that will, as he says, "raise the roof off the house and make the Goddess of Liberty shout for joy."

AN Elevated Connecting Road in St. Louis with a monopoly privilege is worth as much to JAY GOULD as a surface railroad on Broadway, New York, was to JAKE SHARP.

AFTER all, it may not be easy to throw nd in the President's eyes on the of a unanimous confirmation. The Pres ident is not partial to unworthy appoint ments, even when made by himself.

THE reports of the Decoration Day proceedings in St. Louis contain an account of the annual blot on the otherwise com mendable ceremonies. Is it not possible to eliminate the tough excursionists from the programme?

MR. ED DEVOY and Mr. JAY GOULD dis gree on a very material point concerning the proposed monopoly franchise which the Municipal Assembly has been asked to grant the Iron Mountain Road. Mr. ould is reported, on good authority, as saying that the Iron Mountain will sell to no other road the right to use the proposed elevated track; while Mr. DEVOY asserts the reverse of this statement.

THE Harrigan testimonial last night was a pleasant compliment well deserved. We believe that during his career as Chief of Police Major HARRIGAN never used his official power for political purposes, never sought to exercise any authority not conferred by law and never connived at any form of political fraud, and such a record | the purpose. The faithful hair-dresser ne of public trust and honor.

Ir statesmanship has its perils and its trials, it also has its consolations. One of our delegates, who works for the city a whole year for a mere $300, and who exrienced one of the trials of statesmanship when his son was removed from the Assistant Clerkship, again sees the roses of hope blossom beside the stony path of public duty, his son having received erkship in a railroad company which is sking valuable favors from the Municipal Assembly.

Some people are surprised to find Gen. LOGAN so tranquil and peaceable under the outrages inflicted upon the codfish corner of the country, and wonder why he has not clamored for war and the annexation of the enemy's territory; but it should be remembered that Mr. BLAINE got in the arst war-whoop, and of course the Westian couldn't afford to act as a imitator of an Eastern contempora y. It is a very hard matter for two rival ns to dwell together in unity.

ONE of the drawbacks of the otherwise agreeable position of President of the United States has been that he has never been permitted to hear a brass band play any other tune than "Hail to the Chief," but on Decoration Day GILMORE's band favored President CLEVELAND with MEN-DELSSOUN'S "Wedding March," and in Brooklyn his ear was titillated with the appropriate strains from "The Mikado" of "For he's going to marry Yum-Yum," and "We've got him on the list."

THE ENGLISH CRISIS. Fifty-four members of the House of commons attended a meeting of the Chamberlain party on Monday and were From the New York World. so invigorated in their opposition to home rule by a letter which CHAMBERLAIN read from John Bright, that forty-six of them cussions, and we cannot avoid the conviction pledged themselves to vote against the that their purpose is a serious one. In fact, from JOHN BRIGHT, that forty-six of them econd reading of GLADSTONE'S bill, although it is said that CHAMBERLAIN himself counseled abstention merely. All the "whips" are therefore reported now as conceding the defeat of the Ministry in the division which is expected to take place

Whether the Ministry will then resign and give HARTINGTON and CHAMBERLAIN chance to try their hands at uniting the party under a new Ministry, or appeal to the country and send these bolters back to their Liberal constituents to justify their treason to the party and its great leader, is still in doubt, but the most commonly received opinion is that the defeat of the second reading will be followed by an appeal to the country. GLADSTONE professes strong faith in his ability to obtain a popular indorsement of his Ministry and his policy. But the old Protestant feeling against Ireland s so strong in Great Britain that any orecast of the result must be mere guesswork, and the split in the Liberal party can hardly fail to give a number of additional seats to the Conservatives. Any Conservative, Whig or coalitio Ministry, however, will be compelled to take office in the face of a very powerful and united Liberal opposition, and such a situation can mean only a postponement of home rule for Ireland. British Bourbonism may stand out for a time against the obvious means of making Ireland a loyal and creditable part of the Empire. but it is now conceded by all parties that ome new method of solving the Irish problem will have to be tried. When it is found that the Salisbury Conservatives cannot solve it with the aid of HARTINGTON and CHAMBERLAIN, the Churchill Conservatives may take a notion to try what they can do with the aid of the Parnellites again. Seeing all these alternatives ahead, the people ought to see that the safest and best ourse to the inevitable settlement of the uestion is by continuing power in the ands of GLADSTONE, supported as he is by the great body of the Liberal partythe party to which they owe all their greatest achievements in the evolution of liberal and progressive domestic policies.

THE BOYAL HAIR-DRESSER.

The royal hair-dresser of the Bavaria court has been elevated to a position of unusual dignity and importance through an unexpected turnof affairs. For some time past King Louis of Bavaria, the "music and monarch," has employed various artifices to avoid interviews with his numerous oreditors, who are seeking him in all directions with diligence and pertinacity Amid such discouraging surroundings i is hard to pursue the imperial recreation of castle-building, and in this dire ex tremity the unhappy monarch has hid himself in some sequestered nook, and ommunicates with his ministers through the royal hair-dresser. The people ar trying to get rid of him in a formal way. but they cannot find him to carry out mended to all who fill posi- will not disclose the hiding place of the eastle-building monarch who has disar peared from view to prevent the people from getting rid of him.

This obstinate reticence of the royal hair-dresser stands out in glaring contrast with the headlong volubility of the typical hair-dresser as he usually appears in ctual life, and as he has been pictured in song and story. In earlier times the royal hair-dresser was an important personage at European courts, and sometimes handled important state secrets while handling the royal heads. He was well situated for imbibing something of the odor of royalty and learning the weak points of his master. But his lofty office suffered a grievous decline from its pristine splendor, while his lost magnifience has been but feebly reflected in the modern barber. Possibly the action of King Louis means a renalssance of roya hair-dressing, with a glorious restoration of its olden honor, dignity and emoluments.

THE LAST CHANCE.

Up To-Night in the Council - Switching Charges to Be Limited-The Monopoly to Be Maintained - Stone's Duplicity-Lob-

There has not been one word ,written in defense of the Iron Mountain Railroad monopoly favor of it; not one argument against it has been answered.

Those who opposed the bill, believing that it were honest in their support, have waited in vain for some honest effort toward a reply to move his brothers by anything better than sophistry. To Straub, who asked why other roads could not be permitted to use the proposed elevated way, he said: "If you owned a house could any one compel you to sell or rent it?" It was a sophistic reply as he ntended it, but he forgot an answerabl feature in it—condemnation proceeding might compel the owner of a house to sell it. For the good of the public, to benefit the many, a man might be compelled to sell his home to the city or a railroad company.

A citizen cannot have a monopoly, defensible against all comers, in the most sacred of his possessions—his home.

The Missouri Pacific, which is practically

The Missouri Pacific, which is practically one with the Iron Mountain, has such a monopoly of a surface track on Poplar street, that, though it was obviously obtained by fraud and its maintenance is an injury to the public, nothing can be done to disposess the company of that monopoly.

The Iron Mountain, which is in all but a legal fiction the Missouri Pacific, asks and is granted a monopoly right to build an elevated way over the thoroughfares of the city, at an acute angle with those streets between the Union Depot and the Iron Mountain yards.

And in consideration of this new monopoly the most reasonable concession asked, that the Poplar street surface track franchise be released to the city, is denied.

"After we have built the elevated track," said R. S. Hayes, "we shall have no use for the Poplar street track."

Then the company would agree to release that to the city?

No; the company couldn't see its way to doing that.

As a controlling power, or representative of control R. S. Hayes is now to construct the country of the country of the controlling power, or representative of control R. S. Hayes is now to construct the country of the N.o.; the company couldn't see its way to doing that.

As a controlling power, or representative of control, R. S. Hayes is no more; that fragment of policy is still insisted upon, however.

Why?

A glance at a map of the city will show that the proposed elevated road will cross at an acute angle the only portion of the city over which an elevated road could pass between the Union Depot yards and the river front without doing vital damage to the city. The angle of this passage precludes the possibility of another elevated road being bulls over that section to benefit another company.

evated road being built over that section to mefit another company. Unless Poplar street is released to the city. objectionable feature would not be wiped out. Controlling exclusively Poplar street and the proposed elevated route, the Iron Mountain has its grip upon the river front.

President Allen will be absent. His six supporters will be present.

Of the six who have opposed the passage of the bill Mr. Seddon is reported to be weakening. The electric elevated railroad bill now pending in the House of Delegates is his hobby.

He is playing for its passage. There are points in the present controversy which might arise unpleasantly when his hobby comes to the test of votes. As he hopes for the passage of that bill, some consideration for the bobles of others bids him pause and think whether it is better to stand with a majority and suffer defeat, or feign a virtue and gain some friends against his day of trial.

That is his position as understood. He will show to night whether the inference is true or false. He does not carry the balance of power. If he remains with the opposition the vote will tie, 6 to 6. If he goes over to the railroad side the vote will be 7 to 5; in either case the people will be defeated, unless the railroad members will consider to what extent they have abused the confidence of their electors.

To win him or Mr. Duross to the railroad side it has been decided that an amendment to the bill shall be made limiting the switching the bill shall be made limiting the switching the bill shall be made limiting the switching the bill shall be made limiting the switching charge to $1 per car.

It will not win Mr. Duross. He blew the ashes off the roasting chestnuts but will deciline to burn his fingers pulling them out.

Mr. Stone was the member who brought the franchise bill into the Council. He asked Mr. Duross to introduce it; wanted that gentleman to commit himself to its passage. It had been prepared by one Clements, an engineer in the employ of the Missouri Pacific. The limit of time for the completion of the road was five years, and the bond was $3,000.

Mr. Duross insisted upon the reduction of the time for completion to two years, and the

To be sure he had a chance, but the skeleton—
Is still a skeleton.

Stone, unmindful of his implied promises, treated Mr. Duross as he would treat any other tool, and never in all the contest was other tool, and never in all the contest was courteous enough to support one amendment that Mr. Duross insisted upon.

Much of the odium of this bill has fallen upon Devoy. He has been a direct supporter of it all through. He will be to the end. But if there is any odium for any one Stone should get his share. He has not only abused the confidence of the people but has most wretchedly abused his colleague, and has endeavored to place him in a false position before the people—has endeavored to compromise his triend.

pie—has endeavored to compromise his friend.

The sop to Cerberus, as the railroad faction might term the switching charge amendments is misicading.

The proposition is to limit the charge to $1 per car. It is shrewd but should not win. It is no check upon the monopoly of the Iron Mountain.

The other roads could have their work done, but would ride on the back seat taking all the dust and mud. They would have to submit to the convenience and discrimination of the Iron Mountain.

The official report shows that in 1885 there were 180,000 cars moved over the Popiar street track. This number would be increased one-fourth at least should an elevated road be built. If $1 per car is a fair price then the elevated road would earn in one year $200,000.

The highest possible cost of way, land, approaches, etc., will not exceed $1,000,000.

The official figures are far below that figure. So $200,000 would be earned on an investment of $1,000,000—interest at the rate of 20 per cent. Deduct cost of operation and maintenance, and there remains a fabulously large net return.

Now, granting that the Iron Mountain would nance, and there remains a fabulously large nestreturn.

Now, granting that the Iron Mountain would transfer on its own account the larger share of the business, yet if the business of the other roads amounted to one-third of the aggregate estimated above the monopolist company would derive a revenue of 6 per cent less operating expenses on the whole cost, and have its own business transferred for nothing.

Another point—the Iron Mountain could exercise its monopoly power by bidding $1 per car less than its competitors and still make the same profit.

Such discrimination is enough to control all through and local business to the same extent as any other exercises of an exclusive power.

Alimitation as to switching charges is not enough; the anti-monopoly clause must be inserted.

It has been said the company would not ac-

It has been said the company would not accept a franchise that is not exclusive. Is any one dying to give it any sort of a franchise?

Mr. Wellington Adams will feel blue to-night. Mr. Adams bet $40 to $20 against the information, and even though Lehman refused to confirm or deny that he had promised his vote, Adams would surely win the bet. The fact is Lehman's ward is almost to a man against the elevated road, and as he hopes for re-election he dare not vote for the bill. Mr. Adams counts on 15 votes for his bill. He will have but 13. But the indignation of the latter was directed against the British officials who seized honor of the flag and maintaining the rights of the fishermen, was done by the Blains machine. As a political scheme it promised such results, but it has fizzled miserably. The Knight of the broken plume has made another theatrical failure.

The POST-DISPATCH'S special correspondent called at Mr. Blaine's house in Augusta, yesterday, but the crafty old chieftain wrote a polite note declining to be interviewed. The correspondent then called upon Joe Manly, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, who is the head of the Republican machine and the trusted henchman and mouth-piece of Blaine. "In the first place, the Democratic strong-holds are scattered all along the Maine coast. Most of the fishing towns and villages are overwhelmingly Democratic. Away from the seashore the State is safe, for the Republican party by an immense majority. But the Democrats, who populate the coast settlements out down this majority at every election. From the actual figure now before me, I can safely say that over 75 per cent of the fishermen are Democrats and voted the last Democratic ticket. "The feeling that has been aroused against Mr. Bayard through the charge that he was slow in replying to an outrage upon the Yankee fishing vessels, will swing these fishermen out of the Democratic ranks now for the first time, I think."

"Then how do the people here want the controversy settled?"

"Oh, I suppose every one in Maine is satisfied to have the rights of the fishermen settled through the proper diplomatic channels."

"Then why should there be any feeling against the Administration, which has promptly employed the very methods you speak of?"

JAY'S BIG JOB.

THE ATTEMPT TO WRECK THE TEXAS & PACIFIC BOAD.

A Movement in the Interest of the Missour Pacific-Statement of Mr. Henry Clews-Good Management of the Receivers-Facts Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

New York, June 1.—It happened that at the very moment the receiver of the Bankers and Merchan's Te-egraph Company is pro-ceeding against Jay Gould and his Western Union Company for wrecking a rival system, the stockholders of the Texas & Pacific Railroad are charging Jay Gould with wrecking that company in the interest of the Missouri Pacific. The road forms a valuable part of Gould's Southwestern system and extends from Gouldsboro, opposite New Orleans, to El Paso, Tex., some 1,480 miles. Jay Gould is the President, R. S. Hayes, First Vice-President; John O. Brown, Second Vice-President and solicitor; C. E. Satteree, Socretary; and among the directors are Russell Sage, T. T. Eckert, Geo. J. Gould, Jos. P. Scott, C. O. Bird, J. A. Wright, Isaac Westar, J. N. Hutchinson, J. C. Builett, J. B. Roberts, Wm. D. Minsor, H. M. Hoxic and F. L. Ames. The road was placed in receivers' nands last December, and Judge Pardee appointed John C. Brown and ex-Gov. Sheldon as the receivers. The former is one

Sheldon as the receivers. The former is one of the Gould officers of the road and solicitor of Gould's Southwestern system.

Ex-Gov. Sheldon appears to have some ideas of his own-about ruising and railroad and is entirely satisfactory to the stockholders. Last month Issae J. West, Lewis May, O. E. Satteriee, B. F. Newcome, John Markoe, W. D. Mensor, John Lowber Welsh and J. N. Hutchinson were appointed a committee. "To represent all interpointed a committee "to represent all inter-ests" and they issued a plan of reorganization on April 27. This plan was not satisfactory to the shareholders, and a week or two ago the latter met in the office of Henry Clews and appointed M. Burr, Jr., P. J. Goodhard and John Bloodgood as a committee to represent them. The holders of the income and land grant bonds have also appointed a committee, consisting of Simeon J. Drake, Christopher Meyer, W. C. Hall and Wm. Strauss. Five of the eight members of the Strauss. Five of the eight members of the first or "Philadelphia committee" as it is called, are directors of the road, and it is receiv charged by the stockholders that the Philadelphia committee simply represents the desires of Jay Gould in regard to the reorganization.

eniled, are directors of the foad, and it is reely charged by the stockholders that the Fhiladelphia committee simply represents the desires of Jay Gould in regard to the reorganization.

"Jay Gould has simply wrecked this road," and Henry Clews, who presided at the stockholders' meeting, to the Post-Disparch correspondent yesterday. "The plan is to reorganize the road through foreclosure, which makes forfeiture of its present United States charter, and a State charter is to be substituted therefor, which admits of the road being gobiled up at a bankrupt price by a few individuals and leased to the Missouri Pacific in perpetuity. This action is probabled by its present charter. My position in this matter is fully set forth in my remarks at the stockholders' meeting. I then said: 'I must say that I have very little confidence in the Philadelphia committee. It is quite apparent that they are not only ready, but willing to sacrifice your property for the benefit of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company. The management heretofore has been strended with the suspicion of unfairness toward the stockholders as the road has been run for all it was worth, solely in the interests of the Missouri Pacific Company, and its present deplorable condition is an evidence that the treatment it has received has been unjust, to say the least. Before the road was placed in the hands of a receiver its running expenses were say per cent of the gross earnings. Since then they have been reduced to 75, and after being put in a fairly good condition the road can be run af 60, which would not only provide for fixed charges, bt would admit of a dividend on the stock besides. This is the estimate of those who are good judges of the property. The only safety is to read in the management in the hands of the receivers.'"

FIAN OF REORGANIZATION.

Mr. Burr, chairman of the stockholders committee, and yesterday: "There is no doubt that the Philadelphia committee is working in the interest of the Missouri Pacific December of the New Orleans Pacific $1,800,000. During the three months the receivers have been in control, they have increasing the earnings by $140,000 ever the same period in 1885, and have reduced the running expenses from 884 per cent to 75 per cent. The best thing that can happen to the road is to keep it in receivers' hands for a while. The Philadelphis committee are doing all they can to harry up all they can to harry up their control of the receivers can have time to redeem the property. Receiver Sheldon says that the property can be made to pay its fixed charges and dividends on its stock. Receiver Sheldon distinctly says that, in his opinion, the proposed plan of reorganization is not fair to the security holders; that the line is showing an increase of $37 per mile since it passed into the receivers' hands, and that quite recently. He spoke of the effect of discrimination in freight rates against the Texas & Pacific by the Missouri Pacific. It is certainly singular that the earnings of the road should have failed off in such a marked degree, notwithstanding the rapid and wonderful development of Texas during the past two or three years, and should have increased so much as soon as the road was taken out of the Gould management and placed in a receiver's hands.

C. E. Satterlee, secretary of the company much as soon as the road was taken out of the Gould management and placed in a receiver's hands.

O. E. Satteries, secretary of the company and member of the Philadelphia committee, in a statement to the Post-Dispatch correspondent, defended that committee for the attacks of the stockholders. 'No pian of reorganization,' he said, 'will be satisfactory to everybody, but our committee has endeavored to throw every safeguard around all interests involved, including the stockholders. Instead of assessing the stock, which would have wiped out large numbers of small inders, we have provided that they shall receive one share of new stock for every three of the old, and have the privilege of buying another at $15. The Missouri Pacific, which is a creditor of the Texas & Pacific for $1,800,000, advanced to pay interest, has agreed to take the same stock at $20 in payment of this debt. This will give the Missouri Pacific, however, at the most only 65,000 shares out of a total of $21,000 shares, and thus it will not be able to control the property unless it goes into the market and buys enough to make up a majority, and it rests with the stockholders to say whether they will sell or not. The charge, then, that this is a plan to put the Texas & Pacific in control of the Missouri Pacific in perpetuity is absurd.

THE ADDIFIONAL CHARGE

that the recognized road will be leased to the Missouri Pacific at just the fixed charges on the bonds $1,100,000 per year is met by the following resolution adopted by the reorganization committee:

Resolved, That the mortgage securing the 'A' and 'B' bonde of the reorganized company, shall ex-mortgages.

The stockholders have offered no better plan. They simply oppose this and ask that the receivership be continued. While it is true that the earnings for the first three months are larger than last year, it does not appear that this is the result of the management of the receivers. The increase is due to the fact that this is a good crop year, while the last was a bad crop year and hence the traffic is larger."

is larger."

A member of the Burr committee said yesterday that it is preparing a new plan of reorganization which will be ready in a few days. He asserted that the Philadelphia plan of reorganization would, if carried out, undoubtedly place the control of the property in the hands of the Missouri Pacific, which would easily obtain a majority of the capital stock.

Brussels, the Belgian capital, has gathered all "her beauty and her chivalry" at the sensational trial of Leon Vandersmissen, a lawyer and Member of Parlament, for killing his wife, a former opera-singer, who had been intimate with her husband's friend, Vicomte Cadignau, a French nobleman.

Chamberlain's party met at London yesterday to the number of fifty-four, and forty-six of them resolved to vote against the second reading of the home rule bill. The result caused great excitement, and it was generally admitted that a dissolution of Parliament is inevitable. The Conservatives estimate their vote at 252, the gote of the combined Hartington and Parnell voters at 297, and announce a clear majority of 51 against the bill. In case of a defeat it is uncertain whether Gladstone will resign or appeal to the country.

HIS WIFE'S SISTER.

CENES IN THE RUMSEY HOUSEHOLD DE-SCRIBED BY MISS KATIE NASH.

ng the End of a Remarkable Divorce teen-year-old sister of Mrs. Rumsey mas streets, was kept on the witness ed to a rigid cross-examination at the to her sister, but petite in form and acking Mrs. Rumsey's dramatic style.

Judge Lubke decided to-day adversely to the ity in the suit against the Union Depot Railwith reference to the company's use of the road Company, the Scullin street-car line, with reference to the company's use of the streets. It was sought to perpetually enjoin and restrain the company on the ground that its right to compy the streets expired December 6, 1884, The Union Depot Railroad company was incorporated under the general laws of the State for Aftry years, with power to purchase, construct, maintain and operate a horse railroad in this city. The incorporation bore date May 11, 1826. Fourteen days after the incorporation it acquired by purchase all the property and rights of the Gravois Railroad Company, which had been incorporated in 1839 for a period expiring December 6, 1884.

The Court decides against the city on the two questions presented: First, whether the right to use the streets acquired by the Gravois Railroad Company and by the Union Depot Railroad Company after its incorporation under the different ordinances of the city expired December 6, 1884; and second, whether or not the city has by its acts towards the Union Depot Railroad Company had acquired the right of an injunction. Before the Union Depot Railroad Company had acquired the rights of the Gravois Railroad Company had acquired the rights of the Gravois Railroad Company had accepted and acted upon five ordinances. After the incorporation of the Union Depot Railroad Company had accepted and acted upon five ordinances. After the incorporation of the Union Depot Railroad Company the city passed ordinances of fining fully its rights and franchises, and no period was specified for the termination of the franchise. The ordinance of November 3, 1883, idefined the routes of the company.

chise granted the Union Depot Railroad Company was a grant during its corporate existance.

Scheme to Escape Taxation.

Judge Lubke rendered a decision to-day in the special tax-bill case of Philip F. Stifel against Rebecca W. Brown to recover a bill for the reconstruction of Plumb street from the wharf to Main street. Mrs. Rebecca Brown owned the lot in question, but by deed of April, 1884, she conveyed to Lucinda Willi, her mother, for the stated consideration of $10, a strip of three feet in width extending of $20, a strip of three feet in width extending of. April, 1884, she conveyed to Lucinda Willi, her mother, for the stated consideration of $210, a strip of three feet in width extending the whole depth of the lot on Plum strees. The object of the conveyance was to make the lot next the street three feet in width and defeat, if possible, any assessment upon the remaining nineteen feet of the lot as it existed when the ordinance was passed. After the tax bill was issued in favor of the contractor, Mrs. Willi conveyed the strip to Joseph T. Donovan.

The Court sustains the petition which charged that the conveyances were made to the use of Mrs. Rebecca Brown and that she is still the real owner of the entire lot.

The divorce case of Mary E. Dwyer agains Wm. Dwyer, which has had quite a history in the courts, is again before Judge Dillon tothe courts, is again before Judge Dillon to-day for the purpose of judgment and appeal. In the first place, several years ago Mrs. Dwyer sued for a divorce and obtained a decree, which was afterward reversed by the Court of Appeals. Then the husband sued and obtained a decree which the Court of Appeals reversed. Now Mrs. Dwyer is before the court again asking for a decree on the ground that her husband fails to sup-port her. Judge Dillon in a decision on a demurrer has intimated that the case should be dismissed, and an appeal will be taken.

Notes in Court. The back-tax docket will be called on Thurs day in Judge Barolay's division, court No. 3. May Barnum, nee May Edwards, has entered suit for divorce from Geo. H. Barnum. The marriage took place February 25, 1879, and Mrs. Barnum alleges that her husband deserted her without cause November 17, 1881.

The jury in the damage suit of John W. Carroli against the Union Depot Railroad Company, Scullin line, brought in a verdict in lavor of the plaintiff for $500. The plaintiff was injured by the sudden movement of a car which he was attempting to board.

Judge Dillon to-day is completing the call of his default divorce docket commenced yesterday morning, particulars of which have aiready been given in the Post-Dispatch. A decree was granted Abner P. Smith against Ada Smith.

As they were rather rough looking customers Mullally thought it would be best to accede to their demand, and drawing out his purse was about to pick out a dime from its contents, when Mahoney made a grab for the purse and secured it. The two then run, while Mullally hallooed for the police. Officers Canty and O'Neil made their appearance just in time to catch sight of Mahoney and his companion running up 8t. Clair avenue and gave chase. Seeing that they were being overtaken, Mahoney and his partner separated, the former taking refuge in asaloon and the latter continuing straight ahead. Officer Canty went in the saloon after Mahoney and the latter advanced upon him with a club, but the sight of the officer's revolver caused him to drop it, and he went to the police station peacefully. The man whom O'Neil took after made his escape but is known and will be arrested.

land's Rudeness.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

New York, June 1.—There have been many conjectures as to whether President Cleveland will go on a wedding tour or not, and, if he does go, whether he will accept any of the many offers that have been made of the gratuitous use of magnificent steam yachts by their millionaire owners. Some rumors had it that he was going South, others that he was going West, others that he was going to sea in a steam yacht. None of these rumors have have any foundation in fact.

have any foundation in fact.

It was learned yesterday that the President and Mrs. Cleveland will, within a few to Eastern waters and along the Eastern coast in the United States steamer Dispatch. The trip will last necessity days after their wedding, go on a trip to Eastern waters and along the Dispatch. The trip will last probably six or eight days. The Dispatch is fitted as magnificently as any steam yacht can be. Ex-President Arthur made her his favorite yacht Eastern waters. Every convenience that heart can wish for is aboard this Government yacht, and the bride of the President will have pothing to wish for during her sea voyage. Secretary Whitney was on board the Dispatch yesterday, ostensibly to withness the naval display, but the steamer did not accompany the men-of-war to Riverside Park, only going half way, and it is asserted that the Secretary of the Navy was making arrangements for the each box being valued at $13 at the very least. They will be delivered to Pinard, who is to manufacture the wedding cake, this morning.

Tiffany & Co., who have charge of the entire matter, have also procured some elegant wedding presents for President Cleveland. With the secreey which has characterized all the details of the wedding, the matter had been kept quiet, but yesterday it leaked out that the President had cemmissioned Tiffany & Co. to purchase a diamond necklace and solitairering, which he will present to his bride. Yesterday they were delivered to Mr. Cleveland, who expressed himself as well satisfied with the selection. It is understood that the President has also made other extensive purchases from the firm.

The order for the wedding cake for President Cleveland's nuptials was not given until a very late hour considering the great amount of work that had to be done is order to have it ready for Wedsesday. It is being prepared by J. B. Pinard sons, the caterers, of No. 6 East Twenty-fifth street. There will be a bride's cake, weighing twenty-five pounds, and 150 smaller cakes, composed of the usual materials which enter into wedding cakes. The frosting of the bride's cake will be very plain, in accordance with the wish of the President and his bride. In the center will be a monogram composed of the initials "C. F," occupying a space four or five Inches in diameter and raised to about the same height, which will be surmounted by a wreath of crange blossoms. Around the border will be a light but beatifully designed scroil work, and all the rest of the frosting on the top and sides will be plain. When placed upon the table'st the White House, it will rest in the midst of a garland of smillax and white roses.

It was late when Miss Folsom arose this morning and breakfasted with her mother. Two handsome bouquets were sent in to her by Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Endlectt. Accompanied by her motther and cousin, and the vives of the Cabinet officers still in the city, Miss Folsom will leave for Washington at 9

THE OPENING SKIRMISH.

Congressman Martin L. Clardy, Harry Shaw, Secretary of the Congressional Committee on Mines and Mining; Jaspar Burks of Parmington and Sam Stanton of Ste. Genevieve, formed an interesting group in the rotunda of the Laclede last night. The party had just arrived from Farmington and Clardy and Shaw after a hurried supper, were saying "Good-bye," preparatory to leaving for Washington, D. C. Burks and Stanton were anxious to have the Congressman remain over until to-morrow and Clardy would have done so, but a look at Shaw's limited railroad ticket revealed the fact that it expired to-day and rather than incur the expense of a new ticket, Clardy and Shaw took last night's srain for the East. Burks accompanied them to the depot and left a few minutes later for his home at Farmington. Congressman Clardy informed a friend of his just previous to his departure that he would take up the marshalship appointment again immediately upon his arrival at Washington and push Burks' claims as strongly as he knew how. He also expressed the opinion that the appointment of Cengress. Congressman Martin L. Clardy, Harry Shaw, Sam Stanton, who was present at the massmeeting at Farmington on last Saturday afternoon, at which delegates were selected to the Senatorial Convention of the Twenty-sixth District, stated to a PostDisparch reporter that a report of the preceedings published in a local morning paper was incorrect in several important particulars.

"The article state! that the vote of the meeting stood $47 for Cox and $26 for Rozier, said Stanton. "Now those figures are not correct. The men were all placed in a line, divided by ropes, the Cox faction on one side and Rozier's supporters opposite. When counted by properly appointed tellers the Rozier vote stood $38 and the Cox vote $38. Judge Sebastian of the Cox crowd occupied the chair at the time and while he stated that he had been informed that the Rozier men had received a small majority, yet he refused to formally make the announcement and a hard rain coming up just about that time the meeting broke up in confusion. No More Free Medicine. In 1881 the employes of the Mallinckro Chemical Works, Second and Mallinckrods streets, North St. Louis, founded a Mutual Benefit Society, one of the features of which is that each member receives in case of sickness, aside from his regular benefit, his medicine without cost from the company. There are some 150 persons employed in the works. The Retail Druggists' Association of the city oppose very vigorously this free distribution of medicine by the company, and laim that it is an injury to their trade and have asked the company to repeat their action. At a recent meeting of the Druggists' Association, Mr. Edward Mailinekrodt, the President of the company, was present and said he would consider the petition of the druggists, and it is now more than probable that the free distribution of medicine will soon be abolished. HAWLEY'S DELUSION.

Sturdy, Stalwart Republican Senator Sa-bin's Financial Affairs - The Louisians Kicker Becoming Tames - Jones of Flor

Special Correspondence of the Fost-Dist-store.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—Joseph R.
Hawley of Connecticut believes that he is a Presidential possibility. He was of that opinion in 1884. It was related of him at that time that he did not undress at all at hight during the Chicago Convention days, but slept on a sofa with all the doors of his home wide open, so that telegraph messengers could find direct and easy access to him. This may have been one of the slanders of that time, but the General fully believed then that he was a possibility, and now he is more of that opinion than ever. He is a sturdy, stalward Republican, and has a good soldier record. These, he thinks, are enough to call attention to him, in the event of there being a deadlock among the leading candidates. He is just 10 years old. He is tall and stout. His head is round and doubled-chimed. His tron-gray hair is carly and thin. He has a broad forehead, clear blue eyes, a straight nose, under which bristies a eyes, a straight nose, under which bristles a military mustache and imperial. Gen. Hawley is a newspaper editor and a political speaker of some force. He prides himself most of all upon his record as a soldier. He prefers the poor man, and when he came to the Senat modestly, and has never attempted any ex travagant display. He generally takes part in every Republican campaiga. He is stronger in a partisan debate than in a general discus-sion. He is not a close student. In a debate where partisan passion rules Gen. Hawley is a gook talker. In the old days when the Republicans waved the bloody shirt in the House he was one of the most vigorous and defian aggression. This, too, when the records shows that he is a Southern man born. He was born in North Carolina, born. He was born in North Carolina, but he was educated and reared in the North. His emotional and passionate temperament alone indicates his birthplace. Over this he has the veneer of the cold, matter-of-fact New England methods and manners. You meet Gen. Hawley in the ordinary transactions of life and you would think him a New Englander born and bred. But if you were to encounter him during the excitement of some ardent action you would at once discover the fiery and impulsive Southerner. He has as clean and honorable a record as any man in public life. His one weakness is his belief in his capacity to sing solo songs after dinner. There may be a man on earth who can make a more frightful noise than the Senator when he thinks he is singing, but his address is not generally known.

Senator Sabin is probably settling up his wrecked financial affairs in a satisfactory way, for he does not appear to be an object of sympathy. His friends represented last year that he was in great financial distress and that the settling up of his affairs would not leave him anything beyond his Senatorial salary. The Senator this wister has the greatest variety of horses and carriages. There is no Senator howeverly wealthy who has better turnouts. He has three handsome carriages with a splendid pair of horses for these waxons. Then he has a pair of high-priced light trotters to drive to an open road wagon. These are very handsomely matched as to size and action. They differ in color. One is black and the other is bright bay. This last team driven by a white coachman calls for the Senator at the Capitol every afternoon about 4 o'clock. Mr. Sabin puts on a light coat, sets a white derby down over his eyes and sets out for a two or three hours' spla over the beautiful roads near Washington. He is the happiest looking bankrupt in official life. His dark, swarthy face wears an air of content and satisfaction that is not surpassed by any of the rich men in the Senate.

is not surpassed by any of the rich men in the Senate.

I underetand that Senator Eustis of Louisiana is becoming reconciled to the Administration. At least he no longer indulges in those fiery diatribes for which he was so celebrated during the warm days of last summer and the sparkling days of early fail. Mr. Eustis is one of the most agreeable companions in the Senate. He is as indolent as an Oriental and as bright and vivacious in coveration as the wittlest of Frenchmen. His figures of speech are always startling and highly colored while the unexpected turns in his sentences treat his listeners to continual surprises. He has a rich, full voice, the peculiar git of the far Southern men. I heard the other day that the real reason why he started out against the Administration was a simple device to protect his native indolence. He is not fond of working for a crowd of office-seekers, and at the opening of the Administration Louisiana had more office-seekers in Washington than any other State. A Senatorial friend of his said that Eustis got up a theatrical quarrel with the Administration so that he could say to these office-seekers: "I would be so charmed if I could help you, but on account of my little difference with the President I can do nothing."

as a wandering crank who can neither hurt nor help the interests of the State.

Mr. Corooran, the Washington millionaire, has found a new object to distract his attention. He is devoted to the idea of having the Rock Creek Valley to the northwest of Washington turned into a national park. He wants Congress to appropriate the money right away for this purpose. Land through this valley is now worth in the neighborhood of $500 an acre. It is the connecting section of ground between the Fresident's new place and West Washington. The fact of the Fresident's purchase, which has been fully described in the Poer-DISFATCH has fairly made lunatics of the real estate agents in Washington. They are fighting and enapping over all the territory in the neighborhood of the President's place in a way that is really comical. When Mr. Wilson made an offer to purchase the Green estate it was found that Mr. Green had a contract with a real estate agent down-town for its sale. Marshai Wilson refused to purchase through this agent. Then the latter had to be bought out. He surrendered his contract for 100, not knewing that the Fresident was the purchaser behind Wilson. Then when he discovered this he was infuriated and charged that he had been swindled out of $1,500. The race for lots in the neighborhood of the Fresident's farm is now so ferce that I should not be at all surprised to hear of some of these Washington agents killing each other on the Dark Red road leading to Tennsilytown, in their eager contest to get the start of each other. One poor old lady living up in a forlorn and desolate place not far away from the Fresident's farm is now so ferce that I should not be at all surprised to hear of some of these Washington agents killing each other on the Dark Red road leading to Tennsilytown, in their eager contest to get the start of each other. One poor old lady living up in a forlorn and desolate place not far away from the Fresident's farm was rung up out of bed at 10 o'clock one night about a week ago by a long-legged agent, Ninety wagon-loads of strawberries were dis posed of this morning at the Round-Top mar-net. Some were sold at 2 cents, but nearly al at 10 cents per gallon. The receipts were the largest known in one day for years. Henry Winkieman, an employe of the Me-nanics' Furniture Company, Twenty-fifth and aim streets, had three fingers of his left hand pped off to-day by a buzz-saw.

Bitter Bread.

Complaint is frequently made by those who use baking powders that they leave in bread, biscuit, or cake raised by them a disagreeable, bitter taste. This taste follows the use of all impure baking powders, and is caused either by their containing lime or alum (introduced to make a cheap article), by the impure and adulterated character of other ingredients used, or from the ignorance of their manufacturers of the proper methods of combining them. These baking powders leave in the bread a residuum formed of lime, earth, alum, or other deleterious matters, not always, though frequently, tastable in the food, and by all physicians classed as injurious to health. The Royal Baking Powder is free from this serious defect. In its use no residuum is left, and the loaf raised by it is always sweet, light and wholesome, and noticeably free from the peculiar taste complained of The reason of this is because it is composed of nothing but absolutely pure materials, scientifically combined in exactly the proper proportions of acid and alkali to act upon and destroy each other, while producing the largest amount of leavening gas. This assertion is justified by the unqualified statements made by the Government chemists, who after thorough and exhaustive tests recommended the "Royal" for Governmental use because of its superiority over all others in purity, strength, and wholesomeness. There is no danger of bitter bread or biscuit where the Royal Baking Powder is used.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 1.—The United States Circuit Court, Judges Pardee and Bill-ings sitting en banc, decided the case of the American Bell Telephone Company vs. the American Bell Telephone Company vs. the National Improved Telephone Company yesterday. The Bell Company applied to the court for an injunction to prohibit the National Improved Company from infringing its patents. The matter was taken under advisement by the court and a decision has now been rendered. The National Company was organized here and has been in operation about a year, erecting telephone wires and placing instruments in many offices. The Bell Company brought suit with the result of a decision which sustains the Bell patent. The following are the chief points touched on by the Court in the decision:

at noon to-day, attracted by a terrific noise from within. It was at first thought the crash was occasioned by the coming together of the different religious opinions of disputatious preachers, but a lot of broken glass, scattered whitewash and wrecked ladders showed it had only a quasi connection with religion. Two whitewashers and painters had builts light scaffolding on two high stepladders and were hard at work when the ladders broke and the two men were precipitated through a showcase and given a lively introduction to testaments and prayer-books. The ladders in their fall raked the book-cases on each side and when the dust cleared away the interior looked like a Kansas City school-house after astorm. One of the painters fell on the edge of a show case and cut epen his head.

UNCLE SAM'S BUSINESS, ons for May at the Custom-B

The collections of internal revenue for the month of May at Collector Barnum's showed a great increase. Tobacco, spirits and beer made a good race for first place, but the nicotine won the biggest figures, as will be seen by the following: Tobacco, $199,673.34; spirits, $131,415.30; beer, $103,704.36; special taxes, salcons, $49,026.27; cigars, $11,391.25; snuff, $280.48; grand total, $496,498.66. This total shows an increase of $50,700 over May, 1885. This increase is found in tobacco to the extent of $32,000; spirits, $16,000; beer, $3,700.

CUSTOMS COLLECTIONS.

The collections of customs also show a decided looking-up the past month, amounting to $143,832, against $56,909 for the spine month in 1835. This shows a gain of nearly $100,000, and is attributed to the reopening of the sugar refining business. On a single cargo of sugar the collection requently amounts to $50,800, and sever a month passes now but one or two cargoes come in.

WATERFORD MEN WILD. veiling of the Painting of Ger

ph to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 1.-Chickering Hall was of Gallagher's painting of Gen. Thomas Francis Meagher, which is to be presented to the Young Ireland Society of the city of Waterford, Ireland. Every Waterford man in New York was present. If there is one thing more York was present. If there is one thing more than another that stirs the pride of a Waterford man it is the fact that he is a Waterford man. Gen. Meagher was a Waterford man. He was a brave soldier and a gallant gentleman, too. That is why his portrait is going back to his native city, with his swords and two Irish brigade battle flags, and the "sprig of green" that he wore on his hat at the battle of Fredericksburg, and that is why every County Waterford man in Chickering Hall last night cheered himself hoarse whenever Gen. that is why every County Waterford man in Chickering Hall last night cheered himself hoarse whenever Gen. Meagher's name was mentioned.

Gen. Meagher's life was a romantic one. Bora in the city of Waterford in 1825, he was educated at Stonyhurst. England, and returned to his native land to plunge headlong into the trouble of '48. With other leaders of the rebellion he was tried and sentenced to be hanged, drawn and quartered; but his sentence was afterwards commuted to imprisonment for life in Van Dieman's Land. After four years in that penal colony he escaped to Brazil, and from there made his way to the United States. His record in the United States needs no chronicler. As colonel of the gallans 65th Regiment and commander of the famous lish Brigade during the war, he made a name for himself that will live in history. He met his death by drowning in the Upper Missouri in 1867, while he was Secretary and acting Governor of the Territory of Montana. All this and much more was toid last night when his picture was unveiled. It was A VERY ENTINUSIASTIC MEETING.

The veterans of the 65th Regiment were out in force. Col. James Cavanagh presided, and Gen. Montanon gelivered an oration, The 65th Regiment band was present, too, and Mrs. J. Travis Quigg and Miss Jennie Campbell sang "Where are the Boys of the Irish Brigade?" "O'Donnell Aboo," "The Vale of Avoos," "The Harp that Once Thro' Tara's Halls," The Minstrel Boy," and other Irish airs that drove the audience wild with delight and caused the fair singers to be loaded with flowers. iffering from Want of Moi The Outlook Unfavorable.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 1 .- Crop pro pects in the Northwest are not quite so favor able as a week ago. With the exception of the April rains, which came when seeding was mt half completed, the weather has been quite dry and complaints are becoming nu-morous that grain is suffering for want of moisture. In Dakota no rain of any consequence fell from July, 1885, until April of this year, while the snow was very light and not sufficient to impart any great moisture to the ground. The April rains were generally short down-pours, and the water ran off the surface quickly and did not sink into the ground. With an ordinary amount of 'rain since then, the crop would have been all right, but the weather during the last few weeks has been extremely dry and hot and the high winds which prevail in Dakota at this season of the year seem to have absorbed what little moisture there was, while no permanent or widespread damage. in Dakota at this season of the year seem to have absorbed what little moisture there was, while no permanent or widespread damage has been done, yet the outlook is not near as promising as it was ten days ago. The wheat plant is not stooling out as it should, and is thin in many places. Reports from points along the Northern Facilic Railroad say that on the highlands and also on the sandy lands west of Jamestown wheat is beginning to show the effect of dry weather, though no serious effect is felt yet. Along the Manitoba road, crops are looking very well, although complaints are quite numerous that rain is needed. On the line of the Minneapoils & St. Louis Road wheat in many places is beginning to show the want of rain although cats are suffering the most. In Lacqui, Parie County, Minn., the frost nipped the wheat and oats rather severely, and the hot, dry weather immediately following caused the plant to turn yellow. All along the Iowa & Dakota and Iowa & Minnesota divisions of the St. Paul Road, crops are looking quite well, except in Dakota.

PERSONAL SKETCHES OF SOME PROMINENT

MEN ON THE TURF. Their Famous Flyers-The Coming Race Meet-Muldoon and Cannon Matched-

No man, in all the wide world of sport, should be happier than the owner of a fast horse. There is a pride attaching to a record maker and breaker that is connected with probably no other thing striven after for pure love or the sake of gain, and the beauty of the thing is that the proof properties of a process. ning is that the proud proprietor of a success ful racer possesses the advantage of a happy mixture of both. It is true that the greatness of the animal somewhat ered, this makes but little difference. On Saturday next, with the opening day of the big St. Louis spring meeting, not a few of these fortunate men will come and spread over the usual apathy of the life of sport in the Mound

City, new signs of life. The turfman, that is to say, the big turfman, is a sort of nomodic.

He moves in a sphere of life and bustle and nergy, and what is more he carrie the sphere along with him where; ever he goes. He is here to-day, and his presence can be known by the genial animation which radiates from him, stirring up everything with which it comes in ne came and to what will be dull again when he is gone. The turfmen will sojourn with us, and, as everywhere else, will give us a new lease on life for ten days. Their names, like the names of their noble-blooded chattels, are household words, and that is the reason why a little information concerning themselves and their history will not be altogether devoid knows no bounds, and his boundless wealth allows him to give them all the luxury that a horse could be supposed to enjoy. The love for the "royal sport," which constitutes a part of his nature is inherited from a celtic ancestry. He was born and raised in Woodford county, Kentucky. He is well educated. Speculation in mining stocks on the Pacific coast brought him in the greater bulk of his fortune, which, together with his brothers, aggregates the sum of $15,000,000. His stables contain some rare horse flesh, which is entered in nearly every big race meet in the country. The next event in importance to the Eclipse, the Tyrant-Volante race, is between the property of Haggins and Lucky Baldwin.

Mr. Haggin is the owner of what some people consider the best race horse in America—Ban Fox, who is entered in the city and suburban stakes. If Ban Fox wins the city and suburban, the victory will net Mr. Haggin over $80,000. Mr. Haggin owns, in addition to the prominent horse mentioned, the chest nut coit Tyrant, four years old (Great Tom—Moseile), who is coming out as a great race-horse, and who beat the crack Freeland last Saturday

There are thousands of people who have heard as many times about "Lucky" Baldwin. Mr. Baldwin is the owner of Volante, one of the competitors mentioned in the big match race alluded to sbove, the stakes of which are $5,000 a side with the money added by the $t. Louis Fair Association, making the aggregate value of the stakes over $14,000. Among the cracks owned by Lucky Baldwin are Volante, Silver Cloud, Solid Silver, Lijero and Laredo.

W. S. Barnes. Mr. Barnes, whose good-natured face is faithfully given in the portrait above, indulges a taste for the turf from wealth realized in distilling Kentucky whisky. He is now a partner in the firm of Pepper & Co., who operate a distillery near Laxington. He is the owner of Blue Wing, Pure Rye, Duke of Bourbon and other celebrities whose names are an indication of their owner's hustess.

The meeting also voted to indorse the Board's action in suspending those men who had been charged with violating Rule H of the racing rules. E. J. I tried to avoid a foul in every way. I could by giving way to Hanlan, in spite of his being in my water, but he pressed me close inshore and I couldn't get clear. However, I beat him, and afterwards again on a second meeting. Hanlan says he didn't get fair play in Australia, but that's humbug. No man was ever treated better than he was there. I am glad we are to meet on the Thames. He won't be able to charge the English people with favoritism. I am not afraid to soull him in any water."

"What do you think of his style?"

"It is simply perfect. There can be no mistake about that. No prettier souller than Hanlan ever feathered an oar. I am not ashamed to own I have learned something from him in regard to style. He is the picture of a first-clast oarsman. I don't wonder at his fancying himself as he does. He might, however, acknowledge when he is beaten in a fair and open contest."

"Is he heavier or a lighter man than you."

The N. A. A. O. Regatta. The programme of the annual regatta of th National Association of Amateur Oarsmen has amateurs and will take place on July 20 and 21 over the Pleasure Island course on the Hud-son River at Albany. The races of the regatta will be as follows; single-scull shells (senior); double-scull shells; pair-cared shells; and four-cared shells for the challenge cups and piate of the National Association. Eight-cared shells, for championship banner; single-scull shells, for junior scullers only; four-cared shells, for junior oscillers only; four-cared shells, for junior oscillers only; four-cared shells, for Professionals Should Be Barred. J. A. St. John, who acted as timekeeper in the exercises of the Missouri Amateur Athletic Club Sunday last, seriously questions the propriety of professionals being allowed the privilege of competing in strictly amateur tournaments. "Murphy and Whittaker," says he, "had no business in those events, for they are both professionals really and should be treated as such. Taking it for granted that the National Association does not claim jurisdiction over base bail, a logical following out of such a rule would not preclude John L. Sullivan or Jack Dempsey from competing in a sparring event if such an event had been given. Applied to carsmanship and rowing regattas, every man in the Missouri Club who competed against either Murphy or Whittaker is now ruled a professional and cannot, therefore, take part in any amateur rowing race."

The recent agitation of this question, will, it is thought, bring it to the attention of the National Association and the result will be a more definite law than heretofore has existed. J. A. St. John, who acted as timekeeper in ing himself as he does. He might, however, acknowledge when he is beaten in a fair and open contest."

"Is he heavier or a lighter man than you, when you are both in fit condition?"

"Lighter by more than a stone. The last time we contested for the championship he turned the scale at eleven stone; I at twelve stone four pounds."

"How do you account for your beating him so easily it his style is so perfect?"

"Ah! now," said Beach, with a grim smile, "that's an awkward question. I think, however, that my superior strength and staying powers had much to do with it. You see I've been in good training all mylife, for before I took to professional scuilling I had worked hard at my trade as a blackmith from the time I was a youngster. I think that helped me to lay in a fair stock of muscle and endurance to start with, and I've looked to myself very carefully since theh."

"You have no fear that Hanlan will turn you up the next time?"

"Not a bit. I am willing to stake up to any amount he can put down, and row him over any course in the world."

match, best two out of three, Greec-Roman style, for $300 a side, the winner to take 75 per cent of the gate modey. Cannon having the right to select where the match shall take place, has named Cincinnati. He also suggests a name as final stake holder, but this latter is subject to Muldoon's approval. The match must take place some time between June 15 and June 20. Two Policemen Roughly Handled by Crowd at Eighteenth and Mullanphy. About 9.30 last night Pat Downing and another hoodium encountered each other on Eighteenth and Mullamphy streets and at-No one interfered, and in a few minutes athered about the contestants. Officers gathered about the contestants. Officers Maher and Young, who were a short distance away, being informed that a fight was in progress hastened to the scene and arrested Downing, much to the displeasure of the crowd, who demanded that Downing be released and allowed to finish. The officers, however, did not view the matter in that light and continued on their way to the station. They had gone but a few steps when they were greeted with a shower of rocks, ene of which struck Officers Maher in the face and brought him to the payement. Officer Young received a blow on the side of his head, under which he staggered for a few moments and then fell dragging with him his prisoner. As soon as the crowd saw, that the officers were down about a dozen of the most active in the fight surrounded the fallen patrolmen, giving vent to their ire in blows and kicks, and then retired for a fresh supply of misslies. Officer Young struggled to his feet and drew his revolver, but was restrained from firing by the number of women and children in the crowd. He ordered them to disperse and fired several shots in the air for help. Officer Maher recovered sumficiently to get himself and his prisoner to the drug store on the corner, where by means of the telephone the Third District station was notified and a patrol was gon was summoned. Officer Maher and his prisoner were put in the wason and sent to the dispensary, while Officer Young was taken home. Both the officers and the prisoner were considerably battered, Maher's face being mashed out of all human semblance. aher and Young, who were a short distance
